ARLINGTON ACRES AN OLD BARN GETS A NEW LIFE

THEN KATIE JEROME GOT ENGAGED and said that she wanted to get married in her grandpa's barn, her fiance and family thought she was crazy. Hundreds of bales of hay were stacked from floor to ceiling; parts of the floor hadn't been uncovered in 50 years; wind and rain blew through the walls, and horses were still living downstairs. The barn hadn't been painted in decades, and years of hard farming had left numerous patches and repairs. Standing on a family farm that was originally settled by family ancestors in 1862, the barn has weathered the test of time and remains a testament to the strength of love and family.

It was all-hands on deck to transform the barn into a venue fit for such a special day. This massive undertaking became a family affair, with parents, aunts, uncles and the engaged couple all contributing elbow grease. Between the 2015 engagement and the couple's wedding on June 11, 2016 the family restored the barn to its former glory. After a massive cleanout, the exterior was stained, and repairs were made. Instead of renovations, the family focused on restoration and gave new life to original features— the granary was transformed into a bar topped with a slab of butternut found on the property; the original watering trough became a cocktail hour site and real stairs were added to the upper hayloft for additional seating and an incredible view of the dance floor.

As the barn was transformed, the family thought perhaps others would be interested in holding their weddings there too. A simple Facebook page was created, and without any advertising, the interest was overwhelming. Arlington Acres hosted 10 weddings in its first year, 35 over the last two seasons, is nearly full for 2019--and already has bookings for 2020!

The venue was named Arlington Acres in honor of the family's patriarch, Arlington Garrett, who was the last to operate the farm as a dairy until his unexpected death in 1977. Arlington was a respected and active community leader--serving 25 years as the Town Justice of Fabius, President of the Tully Masonic Lodge, deacon at the Apulia Station Methodist Church, and active volunteer fireman.

"Every time I walk into the barn I smile," says Nancy Hatch, Arlington's daughter, who grew up on the farm. "I know my dad would just love that his farm is home again to so many happy memories."

Arlington Acres continues its 150-year family-run tradition. Katie and her husband run the business side of things and coordinate the weddings, her parents give tours, maintain the grounds and staff the events. You're also likely to meet one of the many aunts, uncles, cousins and family members that stop by frequently and support the venue as well.

The sense of rustic comfort is a central theme throughout Arlington Acres Wedding Barn. Golden string light garlands wrapped around wooden beams and jumbo white paper lanterns lend the barn an air of festive magic. Above the polished butternut bar hang electric Ball jar lanterns, and the bar stools are repurposed and updated tractor seats. The ivory-clothed tables are adorned simply with burlap runners and polished wooden slabs, upon which sit fairy-lighted mason jars. The rustic down-home feeling is completed by framed historical black and white photos of different sizes that decorate the walls.

The high ceilings and the wide-open doors opposite one another on each side of the barn create a generous, clean airflow on a pleasantly breezy day; and the doors can be closed against the elements on cold winter days, where the inside of the barn stays pleasantly warm. We just completed a beautiful addition that adds a bridal suite and handicap-accessible restrooms

Outside, at the top of a nearby knoll, against the majestic backdrop of Labrador Mountain, stands a wedding arch, waiting to be decorated according to the couple's wishes. Wooden church pews acquired from Habitat for Humanity are available as outdoor seating for guests to observe the wedding ceremony. If the weather is inclement, the nuptials can be moved inside the barn and performed there, instead.

Wooden barrels with lawn chairs provide continuity to the rustic, wooden theme, bringing the inside of the barn out into the spacious green lawns of Arlington Acres. Wooden barrels and chairs are set up outside, so that guests can enjoy the stunning country views and relax beneath the stars.

Another feature unique to Arlington Acres is that the venue only books one event per weekend from June through the end of October. This gives the couple plenty of time to set up and enjoy their special day, without being rushed out of the event venue. Having the entire weekend also allows the couple to clean up on Sunday instead of Saturday night, on the tail-end of high-spirited festivities.

If you are planning your wedding, wouldn't you prefer fresh air and wide open spaces to a limited reception center adjoining a concrete parking lot? Set up a tour and book your event at the beginning of your planning process, because dates fill up fast!

Arlington Acres also hosts non-wedding events, such as graduation parties, family reunions and showers. To learn more, visit www.arlingtonacresevents.com or find them on Facebook at facebook.com/arlingtonacresevent.

MIKE'S FISH TANK COMMON QUESTIONS

 \mathbf{I} want to go over a few things that people ask about a lot.

Do not change your ph. It is high in this area but fish will adjust. If you keep putting ph down into your tank, it's going to shoot back up in a day or so, then you add more, then it shoots back up etc. This is what is bad for fish. Changing it over and over cause the fish to get sick. You may find there is a fish or two that just hate high ph, but for the most part, fish will adjust. Do not change it.

Another thing is a lot of people want algae eaters for newly set up aquariums.Best to wait until you have algae. They do make algae wafers, but not all algae eaters like them. Most plecostamus like eating the algae off the sides of the glass.

Dechlorinator is another thing people ask about. If you forget to put dechlorinator in your tank, it is not going to kill your fish immediately. Over time the chlorine may burn the gills of the fish causing problems down the road. Keep in mind that any water you set out overnight, the chlorine will dissipate and you don't have to worry about dechlorinaters.

The number one question I get is how long will the fish be ok in the bags. Best answer is get them out as soon as possible. There is enough oxygen to last a little while but the bag of water can get too hot or too cold depending on the weather. Also when you get home, only float the bag of fish for 5 minutes. Floating longer will only cause more problems. The temperature will equalize within 5 minutes. It isn't that much water.

CREATURE FEATURE THE WOOLLY BEAR CATERPILLAR

THIS FUZZY ORANGE AND BLACK caterpillar is a sure sign of lacksquare autumn. It's actually the larval form of the attractive Isabella tiger moth. Most of this species' eggs hatch in the fall, which is why we mostly see the woolly bear during this season. The caterpillar is not picky - it is a generalist feeder, and consumes a wide variety of plants, like dandelion, nettle and plantain. While typically nocturnal, this cannot be exclusively so, as we often spot a woolly bear - or 2 or 3 -crossing the road in broad daylight. As temperatures dive, the woolly bear seeks a protected place, in a log or another safe, cozy crevice. There it goes into hibernation for the winter, surviving temperatures as low as -90 degrees Fahrenheit. Thanks to a sort of "antifreeze" it produces, the caterpillar may freeze, but its organs are protected. With spring's arrival, the caterpillar thaws and goes on an eating bonanza before spinning a cocoon from its own fuzz. 10-15 days later, it emerges as an adult moth. Popular folklore claims that the severity of winter can be predicted based on the woolly bear's orange and black bands: the wider the orange bands, the milder the winter; thicker black means a harsh season ahead. (Fear not! All black caterpillars are a different species!)

EVILLE BRIDGE REBUILD

TEPHANIE GODDARD HAS WORN MANY hats in the small Village of Freeville. She's a past president of the Freeville Community Council, the current Neighborhood

Watch Coordinator, and a willing volunteer when it comes to beautification projects. When Mayor David Fogel asked her if she'd be interested in taking photos to record the progress of the Rt. 38 bridge re-building project, Stephanie figured on capturing the same two or three vantage points a couple of times a week. What she discovered was far more interesting. Thanks to the explanations provided by workers and DOT engineers, Stephanie has learned much about structural materials, the operation of heavy machinery, and the processes involved in the destruction and re-building of a bridge.

Most work days the photojournalist posts a dispatch from the work zone" on Freeville's listserv to inform and educate the public of that day's activities. The listserv is not limited to Freeville residents. Anyone wishing to follow the progress of the bridge can visit freevilleny.org to request being added to the listserv.

playing together for many years in other groups such as the Cortland Old Timers Band, the Cortland Area Flute Ensemble (CAFÉ), and Espressivo flute quartet. They decided to branch off in 2017 to do a few concerts as a trio, and have been playing for various local events ever since. SOUTHWORTH LIBRARY UPCOMING EVENTS

THE SOUTHWORTH LIBRARY PRESENTS THE SECRET WISDOM OF NATURE: FINDING OUR PLACE, a free adult and young adult reading and discussion series beginning Thursday, September 19 at 7 pm at the library, 24 West Main Street in Dryden, NY. Participants will come together over the course of four monthly sessions with local experts to discuss various aspects of the world in which we live and the various bugs, birds and mammals with whom we share it, ranging from wolves, birds, bugs and more.

"As we look at the changes in our physical world and the creatures with which we share it, it has never been more important to learn more and find the balance. In this series we investigate the wonder and beauty of it all and maybe gain some lessons to take away," says Diane Pamel, Library Director and program manager. This series is designed to foster active reading and thinking, incorporating texts that serve as catalysts for deeper thought and understanding of how to live responsibly in our world.

The program is free and open to the public, although preregistration is recommended. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions, scheduled for the following Thursday evenings. All programs are at 7 pm.

September 19: Dr. Kelly Wessell, Professor of Biology and Environmental Studies at Tompkins Cortland Community College will kick off the series with a discussion based on The Secret Wisdom of Nature: Trees, Animals, and the Extraordinary Balance of All Living Things - Stories from Science and Observation by noted naturalist Peter Wohlleben.

October 17: the program looks to the world of mammals with special guest, Will Pryor from the Wolf Mountain Nature Center in Smyrna NY, for a discussion of wolves and man. Pryor started the center 13 years ago with a mission to foster appreciation and understanding of the intrinsic value of wolves, coyotes and their cousins and their relationship with natural systems and man. His goal is to unique and interesting environmental educational programs and deliver them to a diverse audience. Our guiding text is Wolves at Our Door: The Extraordinary Story of the Couple Who Lived with Wolves by Jim and Jamie Dutcher.

November 21 welcomes Dr. Linda Rayor, Senior Researcher and Lecturer at Cornell Dept of Entomology, coordinator of Insectapalooza, and Education Outreach specialist. Her primary efforts include the study of arachnid social behavior and biodiversity as well as training students, teachers and volunteers on STEM outreach. Dr Rayor will provide a bridef presentation on arachnids and facilitate discussion of Wicked Bugs by Amy Stewart.

On December 12, we complete the series with The Genius of Birds by Jennifer Ackerman facilitated by Peter Harrity, Senior Naturalist/Associate Director of the Lime Hollow Nature Center and master falconer with a look at bird intelligence and behavior.

All programs are at the Southworth Library, 24 West Main St., Dryden, NY at 7 pm. Books will be available for each session. For more information, or to register for the series, please contact Diane Pamel, Library Director at director@southworthlibrary.org or call 607-844-4782.

CAPTURING WEDDING MOMENTS SHANA KARN, SHOTS BY SHANA PHOTOGRAPHY, DRYDEN

T's September; shades of red, orange, yellow and gold are creeping along the edges of the leaves still clinging to the trees after a full summer, kids have returned to school and there was a full week of first-day-back-photos posted by both sad, yet anxious parents, we had a day or two of cool, autumn air—though true fall doesn't begin until later this month and pumpkin-flavored coffees and baked goods abound at every turn. Many of us are anxious for the cooler temps and the opportunity to wear sweaters; we are excited about the colorful display of leaves that we hope and pray for every year. We love apple picking and baking, decorating for fall and almost everything that accompanies this change of season. Fall weddings are underway—centerpieces now including the muted colors of fall and pumpkins and fall wedding photos incorporating splendid natural, colorful backdrops!

Looking back at a couple of this year's weddings—one of which was my own daughters, I realize that, it doesn't matter where or when a wedding takes place. Each wedding is lovely—big or small, spring, summer or fall (and, yes, even in winter!). Brides are stunning no matter the time of year or weather or venue Weddings are a happy time, a time for each guest to witness two people who love each other unconditionally and endlessly at one exact moment. It is an occasion that most of us love being a part of—and that photographers love capturing.

However, capturing the pure joy that is a wedding day, is not easy feat. It is about catching looks between the new husband and wife, moments with parents and the wedding party; it is catching laughter and happy tears. I've learned over the years that it is about being prepared, patience, connections with the couple (their friends and family) and foresight. It is having an artistic vision that—that may be months, weeks, days, hours or, sometimes, minutes in the making.

Weddings are a lot of work because so much is riding on capturing all the moments and all the "feels!". It is often 8-10 hours of shooting and weeks of editing. It is recalling the bride's Pinterest board, mental notes about shots and guests and checklists. It is about the flower girl who stops to pick a dandelion, the ring bearer who drives down the aisle in a jeep the father who has a hard time with "Who gives this bride to be married?" It is knowing these are photos that will hopefully be around for a long time, viewed by future children and grandchildren.

I take my job as a photographer very seriously—though I try to keep things very relaxed for the benefit of anxious brides and stressed out grooms! If you are planning a wedding and would like to discuss Shots by Shana Photography's wedding packages, I would love to hear from you (607) 345.9697/shana@shotsbyshana.com.

Celebrating 17 YEARS OF THE CAT!

THE CORTLAND AREA TRIBUNE CELEBRATES ITS 17TH ANNIVERSARY!

JUDY KILMER Founder/Editor

Are you curious about who started The CAT? The Cortland Area Tribune is published by me, Judy Kilmer. I reside in Dryden with my husband John. John and I have 3 children and a 6 year old granddaughter.

I have been working in advertising for 45 years. My first job was at the Conklin Pennysaver in Binghamton back in 1973 while I was studying Commercial Art and attending high school. I learned the fundamentals of creating and selling newspaper ads and writing articles. After high school graduation, I worked at JRB Advertising for 10+ years then took some time off to raise my family. In 1989 we moved to Dryden. I began working in the advertising field again for a local paper when my children started school in 1995.

7 years later, I spent a couple months talking and listening to folks about a need for an old fashioned community paper, I inspired to create a newspaper that featured articles about businesses that folks drive by every day and inform my readers about their services and/or products! Plus offer free community calendar listings for non- profit organizations and do each issue with a "theme" to keep the paper interesting for curious consumers.

The Cortland Area Tribune was launched in September 2002, providing an affordable, attractive bi-weekly paper and still boosts of almost all of its original advertisers today!

Doing what I love for a living and making friends over the last 17 years with my advertisers is a great gift! I really enjoy chatting with people and those of you that see me every other week probably know that!

Thank you to my devoted advertisers and thank you "my readers" for reading The Cortland Area Tribune in print and online!

And thank you to my graphic designer Dustin and all the people that work with me to help put the paper together, gather ads and articles, deliver the paper and help me achieve the success of publishing The Cortland Area Tribune for 17 years!

MARTHA NELSON Advertising Consultant

I have been in advertising sales since 1993, when I was hired by Lakeside Printing in Skaneateles. I have won awards for outstanding sales and have been recognized for the design, sales and overall success of different promotions over the last 26 years. I retired in Nov. 2009 from the Scotsman Press. I started working with Judy in August 2012 at The Cortland Area Tribune, I have 2 children. Lisa and Matt and I have 5 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren. I live in Cortland at the Country Music Park! I winter in Florida near Ocala for 6 months where I enjoy growing flowers and visiting friends.
