CREATURE FEATURE OH, BABY!

THE SPRING AND SUMMER SEASONS are burgeoning with life as newborn creatures enter the world. Some wildlife babies receive care from two parents -- others just one. Some youngsters get little or no parental care at all. It's not unusual to see wildlife babies all alone. This doesn't mean they've been orphaned or abandoned. In fact, many species leave their offspring unattended for extended periods of time each day which helps prevent predators from finding the wee ones. Every year, well intentioned people "rescue" baby animals they find alone, when in fact they're kidnapping them. Sadly, most of these babies will die due to stress or improper care. Understanding animal behaviors helps us avoid unnecessary tragedy. Newborn fawns are left all alone except to nurse a few times a day... mother rabbits only return to their young in the nest twice daily...fox kits hang around the den site waiting for their parents to return with food...and those clumsy fledgling birds, calling pathetically from the ground, are still receiving parental care. Despite the urge to intervene or get closer, leave the babies alone and keep kids and pets away. Remember: if you care, leave them there. For sick or injured wildlife, contact the regional DEC wildlife office at (607) 753-3095, or search https://dec.ny.gov/cfmx/extapps/sls_searches/index. cfm?p=live_rehab to locate a wildlife rehabilitator near you.

MIKE'S FISH TANK BLACK MOORS

THAVE A LOT OF customers who love goldfish and why not, they are $oldsymbol{oldsymbol{\bot}}$ easy to care for, they don't mind it being cold and they do not get sick very easily. One of the favorites is the black moor, black scopes, and black butterfly. All are black with subtle differences.

The black moor is a telescope-eyed variety of fancy goldfish that has a characteristic pair of protruding eyes. It is also referred to as popeye, telescope and dragon eye in China. Black Moors have deep bodies with long, flowing finnage, along with the characteristic protruding

They are veiltailed and possess metallic scales with a velvet like appearance. Young Moors resemble bronze fantails. Their black coloration and eye protrusion develop with age. They can grow up to a length of 10 inches and do not lose that velvet like appearance with lifespan of a moor is 6 to 25 years. The fish can range in coloring anywhere from a lighter grey to a dark black, but most Black Moor goldfish don't stay pure black forever and many of them change colors from a rust color underbelly to orange splotches. Although their eyes large, their vision is generally poor. Black moor goldfish are popular because their black color sets them apart from the more common gold color. Black moors do well with other fancy goldfish varieties. Other colors of the telescope family are the red, red-white, calico, chocolate, brown, blue, bronze, lavender, chocolate-blue, and tricolored. Black and white moors are called panda moors and are more rare and cost a bit more. Black moors do sometimes throw normal-eye offsprings, and they are black also.

Another variation of the black moor is the black butterflyfish. They look like a moor but have a longer triple tail that is gorgeous. They too are more rare and can cost a bit more

Pets A Plenty is located in the Blockbuster Video Plaza, Rte 281 Cortland, 753-9213. Open 7 days a week. We now have a website. WWW.PETSAPLENTY.BIZ. check it out. I post care sheets, coupons, new animal arrivals, contests and more. Any questions, email me at friskyy@hotmail.com

DRYDEN DAIRY DAY FINDS CREATIVE WAYS TO CELEBRATE

THEN THE DRYDEN DAIRY DAY Committee decided to cancel the HEN THE DRYDEN DAIRY DAI COMMISSION ON gatherings, they knew they wanted to do something to celebrate farmers.

"Since the beginning, we have been dedicated to educating the public about the importance of the dairy industry and that won't stop even though we can't gather in Montgomery Park on June 13," said Brenda Carpenter, chair of the Dryden Dairy Day Committee. "We have found creative ways to celebrate our dairy farmers - who are still working every day to provide safe, healthy dairy products."

- Milk Donation: Partnering with Trinity Valley Milk and Dryden Central School District, the committee has purchased over 700 gallons of fresh, healthy and local milk to be delivered to local families in need. If you would like to help fund this initiative, visit drydendairyday.org for
- Cows is Time Square: The famous cows are still decorating the village's Time Square as well as local businesses and
- Scholarship: A $300 scholarship will be awarded to a graduating senior in the Dryden School District who has been accepted to a two- or four-year college to study an area of agriculture.
- Coloring Dairy Day Cows: The entire community can join in coloring a cow this year by downloading the picture from
