ADVANCED RADIATION UNIT OPENS AT CAYUGA CANCER CENTER

AYUGA CANCER CENTER HAS INSTALLED a new radiotherapy system that delivers more powerful cancer treatments with pinpoint accuracy and better precision than previous generations of medical linear accelerators. Treatments with the new TrueBeam® unit integrate motion advanced imaging and management technologies that monitor and compensate for patient motion during radiation therapy. The advances open new possibilities for treating cancers of the lung, breast, prostate, head and neck, and other malignancies.

Faster treatments

"The new technology reduces treatment time for Cayuga Cancer Center patients. Simple treatments now requiring 10 to 30 minutes will be completed in less than two minutes says," says John Powell, MD, medical director of the Radiation Oncology Department at the Cayuga Cancer Center and a member of the medical staff at Roswell Park Comprehensive Cancer Center in Buffalo.

"Shorter treatment sessions are more comfortable for patients. The redesigned treatment table repositions the patient on a variety of planes, so technicians no longer physically move the patient for treatment," Dr. Powell says.

About two-thirds of the patients receiving cancer care at Cayuga Health have radiation therapy as part of their treatment. Radiotherapy works by limiting the ability of cancer cells to grow and spread. Radiation disrupts the DNA of these fast-growing cancer cells and prevents them from replicating. TrueBeam® radiotherapy has treated Cayuga Cancer Center patients since 2005 when the medical center installed its first accelerator at its Main Campus.

Precise targeting of tumors

TrueBeam's® advanced medical accelerator produces the radiation for radiotherapy. The unit has two main components: a beam system that generates photon, electron, and diagnostic X-rays, and a control panel located outside the treatment room. The beam arcs around the patient to deliver the precise radiation dose to match the three-dimensional shape of the tumor. The beam's intensity and angle are adjusted during treatment to target the tumor with submillimeter accuracy from multiple positions.

Those advances deliver the maximum dose of radiation to the tumor, and the lowest dose to the surrounding healthy tissue. The unit operates quietly and provides built-in music capabilities so a patient can listen to music during treatment. Two-way communication links the patient to the therapist operating the system, and the therapist can see and monitor the patient through two closed-circuit televisions. The new TrueBeam® features provide patients with greater accuracy, speed, and comfort during treatment and gives medical professionals the ability to treat many types of complex cancer cases.

CORTLAND COUNTY TRIVIA FROM THE CORTLAND COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

In the Last Issue, we asked if you knew which Cortland County native created the first equestrian statue in America. Clark Mills is the sculptor from Taylor who created the first equestrian statue, quite an achievement! The statue of Andrew Jackson sitting atop his horse is located in LaFayette Square in Washington, D.C. Mills also created an equestrian statue of George Washington. The Statue of Freedom which sits on top of the U.S. Capitol and a life cast of Abraham Lincoln's head are both the work of Clark Mills. Not bad for a boy from Taylor!

Did you know that Cortland County produced a Baseball Hall of Famer? This gentleman was born in Truxton and went on to play major league ball for both the Baltimore Orioles and the New York Giants. He also became the coach of the New York Giants for 25 years. Who was this guy?

MIKE'S FISH TANK BLUE LOBSTER & GHOST SHRIMP

Lot of people are interested in other types of creatures $oldsymbol{A}$ besides fish for their aquarium. Here are a couple ideas.

The blue crawfish are found in Florida. They are the only native species of crawfish in the everglades. It is the lack of a gene that causes them to be blue. Also known as the Electric Blue Crayfish, Everglade Crayfish or Florida Crayfish. As far as feeding, pelleted fish food that settles to the bottom should be provided. Crayfish are omnivorous scavengers and will eat almost anything they can grab with their claws from small fish, to worms, to vegetation. Crayfish like to burrow and hide, so provide a cave or hiding rock.

Most shrimp are fine to keep with these guys because they are fast and stay out of the way of the Electric Blue Crayfish. They also enjoy logs to hide under, driftwood and rock shelters. Crayfish are very good at escaping so make sure to have a tight fitting lid on your tank.

Blue crayfish can be messy eaters so make sure to do regular water changes. If you have live plants in your tank, there is a good chance they are going to eat them.

Ghost Shrimp, also known as Glass Shrimp, are excellent scavengers. They are inexpensive and efficient aquarium cleaners that will actively search for any kind of leftover food in your aquarium. Their transparent bodies and frenetic food-searching behavior make Ghost Shrimp an interesting addition to your freshwater aquarium. The Ghost Shrimp body is transparent, and an orange to yellow colored spot is visible in the center of the tail. The body is segmented, and features ten sets of legs. The first four sets have tiny claws that aid the shrimp in feeding.

Ghost Shrimp are relatively small invertebrates, reaching a maximum size of only 2".

The Ghost Shrimp are omnivores and will consume algae, detritus and left over food. If insufficient food is present, supplement with a quality flake food or pellet.

Ghost shrimp are an excellent food source for many types of both freshwater and saltwater fish.

Pets A Plenty is located in the Blockbuster Video Plaza, Rte 281 Cortland, 753-9213. Open 7 days a week. We now have a website. WWW. PETSAPLENTY.BIZ. check it out. I post care sheets, coupons, new animal arrivals, contests and more. Any questions, email me at friskyy@hotmail.com

CREATURE FEATURE SALAMANDER SUPERSTARS

 $\mathbf{E}_{ ext{their}}$ spring finds various species of salamanders making their synchronized annual sojourn to breed in ephemeral wetlands and vernal pools - places that temporarily hold water after snowmelt and heavy spring rains, but typically dry up by mid- to late summer.

Salamanders are keystone species, meaning they play an important role within their ecosystem that no other living thing can perform. Reducing or removing keystone species can result in the decline or collapse of an entire ecosystem. Herpetologists (scientists specializing in amphibians and reptiles) warn of dire consequences to forest ecosystems if salamanders begin to die off. Because they constitute such a large biomass within an area, when salamanders experience population declines so do other species that rely on them for food including small mammals, fish, turtles and birds. Salamanders also help control disease-spreading mosquitoes and ticks and even play a significant role in the carbon cycle. By preying on insects that break down leaf litter into carbon, salamanders help decrease the amount of carbon released

Salamanders, while abundant, face a growing number of threats including pollution, acid rain and being run over while crossing roadways during migration.

CAYUGA SURGICAL TEAM PERFORMS 500TH DA VINCI ROBOTIC SURGERY IN LESS THAN TWO YEARS

AYUGA HEALTH OFFICIALS ANNOUNCED TODAY that as of Tuesday, March 30th, their Surgical team has performed their 500th da Vinci robotic surgery in less than two years, double the 125 per year that the majority of comparable community hospitals may experience.

"Completing 500 robotics surgeries in less than two years, while accomplishing this through the COVID-19 pandemic, is real testament to our outstanding surgeons, surgical teams, and the demand for this technology," states Dr. Martin Stallone, President & CEO of Cayuga Health. "We are happy to report that we now have eight surgeons practicing robotics - four general surgeons, one bariatric surgeon, and three gynecological surgeons."

Cayuga Medical Center introduced the addition of the daVinci Xi®, the most advanced robotics surgical system, to its portfolio of patient offerings in 2019. The da Vinci Xi is designed to enhance surgeon capabilities and advance minimally invasive procedures.

"It has been a bit of a whirlwind type of journey to have us start with this system back in the summer of 2019 and then to hit this impressive milestone so quickly," states Dr. John Mecenas, General, Laparoscopic, Bariatric & Robotic Surgeon at Cayuga Surgical Specialists. "The reason we have been able to achieve this number of cases in such a short period has been in part due to the surgeons, but also is largely due to the dedication and focus of the OR staff, in particular, Sheila Stein, NP RNFA, our Robotics Coordinator who assures our teams are well organized and well trained."

"For many patients, robotic surgery is a better, safer option than open surgery and studies have found that patients experience shorter hospital stays, less blood loss, fewer complications, less need for narcotic pain medicine and a faster recovery," adds Stallone. "In addition, I believe our outstanding safety record has contributed to the increase of surgeries despite the pandemic environment."

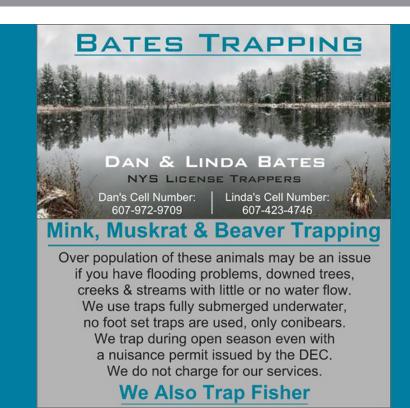

About Cayuga Health

Cayuga Health (CH) has two hospitals, Cayuga Medical Center and Schuyler Hospital, as well as a multi-specialty group, Cayuga Medical Associates. Combined employment, including affiliated organizations, is over 2,200 employees. CH is clinically linked to Mayo Medical Laboratories, Rochester Regional Health for cardiac services, Roswell Park Comprehensive Cancer Center for cancer services, and the University of Rochester for neurosciences. Visit www. cayugahealth.org for more information.
