HOW FIBER-OPTIC INTERNET CAN BOOST THE VALUE OF YOUR HOME

THE DEMAND FOR FIBER-OPTIC INTERNET HAS NEVER been higher. As our homes get smarter, and we turn to connected devices for work, leisure, education, and more, we expect a fast, reliable connection. For all of these reasons, adding fiber Internet capabilities to your home is considered a wise

The Benefits of Fiber-Optic Internet

A 2015 study found that the addition of fiber-optic Internet can increase a home's value by 3.1%. That's equal to an additional $9,000 on a $300,000 home. In fact, it provides the same value as adding a fireplace or half bath. But how does this seemingly intangible addition make your home more valuable? The value lies in the wide-reaching benefits of fiber

The obvious benefit is increased speed. As the number of remote workers and the self-employed rises (as we've seen during the current pandemic), the importance of reliable Internet speed at home is more apparent than ever before. A better connection improves efficiency and provides faster upload and download speeds.

Have you ever experienced one of those days where nothing will load? You can't seem to browse the web and your Netflix account keeps buffering? With fiber, you can say goodbye to those bad connection days.

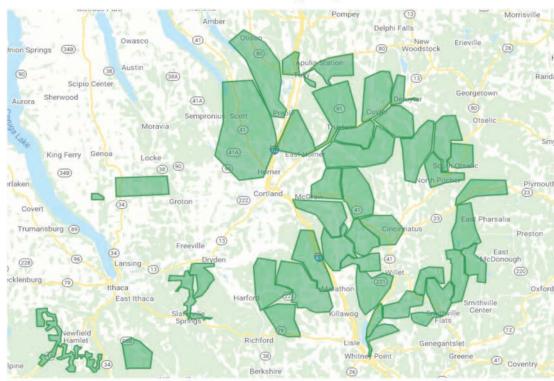

Not only will you receive information faster, but your information is also more secure with a fiber-optic Internet connection. Fiber doesn't radiate signals, making it almost impossible to hack and increasing security.

It's More Accessible Than You Think

Some have written off the addition of fiber connectivity due to the impression that its installation is expensive and time-consuming. We're working diligently to build new infrastructure and make improvements that will bring highspeed Internet to more and more communities. If fiber isn't available to your home or business currently, we hope to bring

Over the last few years, the cost of fiber-optic cable has decreased significantly. In fact, the cost of connectivity over

Fiber Capability Is Still A Differentiator

These days, it's hard to find a home without a master bathroom. But there are still many people who have yet to jump on the fiber-optic Internet bandwagon, so a fiber connection at your home can be a major selling point. An attractive feature for business owners, telecommuters, and families running several Internet-connected devices at once, fiber capability will help your home stand out from the rest.

CORTLAND COUNTY TRIVIA FROM THE CORTLAND COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

AST TIME WE ASKED YOU what year the City of Cortland fire ⊿station was built at 21 Court Street. Did you guess the right answer? This unique building was constructed in 1914 and is on the National Register of Historic Places. The Dutch style building was designed by Sackett and Park out of Syracuse. It is the first central firehouse in the city of Cortland, and it brought together five independent fire companies: the Water Witch Steamer, the Emerald Hose Company, the Orris Hose Company, the Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company, and the Hitchcock Hose Company. One central station located in the center of the city was more economical than having three different buildings which had been in use.

There are two rivers which run through Cortland County. Can vou name them both?

TEST DETECTS LUNG CANCER AT ITS MOST TREATABLE STAGE

By Walter Silbert, MD

UNG CANCER CAUSES MORE year in Tompkins and surrounding counties than any other type of cancer. The most important risk factor for the disease is smoking, which results in approximately 90 percent of all U.S. lung cancer cases. One reason the disease is so lethal is that lung cancer is not typically discovered until a patient develops symptoms at which point successful treatment is less likely.

An early detection lung cancer screening offered at Cayuga Medical Center and Schuyler Hospital has proven very successful in identifying early-stage cancers when treatment can be most effective. The lung cancer screening uses low-dose computed tomography (LDCT). It is the only screening test for lung cancer that is recommended by the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF), a panel of national medical experts. The test uses low doses of X-ray radiation to make detailed pictures of the lungs. It is painless, noninvasive, and like the use of mammography in annual breast cancer screenings.

Who is at risk?

Smoking is by far the leading risk factor for lung cancer. About 90% of lung cancer deaths are thought to result from smoking. The risk for lung cancer among smokers is about 20 times higher than among non-smokers. The longer you smoke and the more packs a day you smoke, the greater your risk.

Who should be screened?

An annual LDCT lung cancer screening is recommended for people 50 to 80 years old who have a 20 pack-year smoking history, currently smoke or have quit within the past 15 years. A pack-year calculates how much a person has smoked in their lifetime. One pack-year is the equivalent of smoking an average of one pack per day for a year. This new 2021 screening recommendation replaces the USPSTF's 2013 recommendations for annual LDTC screenings for those 55 to 80 years who had a 30 pack-year smoking history, currently smoke or have quit within the past 15 years.

OC

What are the test's benefits?

Annual LDCT screenings can prevent a substantial number of lung cancer-related deaths for those at high-risk for the disease. Screenings can detect lung cancer at an earlier stage prior to onset of symptoms and when treated at its early stages lung cancer has a better prognosis.

What are the test's risks?

Most medical tests involve a risk. That is why LDCT screening is recommended only for adults who have no symptoms of lung cancer, but who are at high risk for developing the disease because of their smoking history and age. A significant risk associated with LDCT screening is a false-positive finding that occurs when the screening's test results indicate there may be cancer when there is not.

When should screening stop?

Testing stops after age 80, when the patient has not smoked for 15 years and is no longer at high risk for lung cancer, or when other health problems make a patient unwilling or unable to undergo treatment for lung cancer if detected at LDCT screening.

What happens after an LDCT lung screening?

A radiologist reviews the images and rates the likelihood of the patient developing lung cancer. The results are forwarded to the patient's primary-care provider to review the results with the patient. About 90 percent of the tests find no cancer, or a low likelihood for developing the disease, and a re-test is recommended in 12 months. When test results show a higher risk for developing lung cancer, the LDCT test may be repeated sooner, and other diagnostic tests may be recommended.

Is the cost of lung screening covered by insurance?

Medicare Part B and some private health insurance covers a lung cancer LDCT screening once per year when a person meets several conditions related to their smoking history

Where are LDCT screenings done?

Screenings can be scheduled at Cayuga Health System locations at Cayuga Medical Center, (607) 274-4046, and at Schuyler Hospital, (607) 535-8613.

Dr. Silbert is board certified in diagnostic radiology and is on the medical staff of Cayuga Medical Center, where he and his diagnostic radiology colleagues, supervise and interpret LDCT lung cancer screening exams. The radiologists provide a full spectrum of diagnostic medical imaging exams and perform interventional procedures that are accredited by the American College of Radiology Committee on Quality and Safety

CREATURE FEATURE LOONY TUNES

OMMON LOONS ARE ICONIC OF northern wilderness lakes where their haunting calls stir something primordial within us. Researchers have discovered that their different vocalizations communicate lots of information to other loops

The "yodel" call is exclusive to male loons. It starts with a drawn out introductory phrase followed by repeated, undulating syllables. Yodels mostly occur when a male is in a tense confrontation with an intruder or when a potential challenger flies overhead. Each yodel is unique and relays detailed information to other loons including identity, body condition and a willingness to fight. A male with heavier body mass signals his robustness through a lower frequency yodel. As he ages and loses body mass, his yodel rises in pitch. Yodels with several repeated syllables reflect a higher state of aggression.

The "tremolo" is given by both male and female loons. It sounds like maniacal laughter but is actually an alarm call. Loons tremolo when something threatens their chicks. This call is also given in flight or to announce a loon's arrival on a lake.

The eerie, wolf-like "wail" is exchanged between mates to stay in contact or to help locate a lost chick.

Lastly, loons use a short "hoot" to keep in touch with each other and their young or in greeting as they rejoin company from different locations on the lake. Hoots also communicate contentment and calm.

HOMER COMMUNITY BLOOD DRIVE JUNE 5

THE HOMER COMMUNITY BLOOD DRIVE will be held Saturday, June 5th, from 8am to 1:00pm, at the Homer First United Methodist Church, 16 Cayuga Street (on the Green).

A Double Red Cell Collection unit will be available at this drive for type A-,B-,AB-, and O.

The Red Cross is testing blood donations for COVID-19 antibodies. As part of this effort, plasma from standard blood donations that test positive for COVID-19 antibodies may now help current coronavirus patients in need of convalescent plasma transfusions.

In thanks for your support, all who come to give will receive a limited-edition Red Cross T-shirt, while supplies last.

There's no deferral time if a donor receives the Pfizer or Moderna vaccine. If a donor receives a vaccine, knowing the name of the manufacturer is critical in determining blood donor eligibility.

Donors - get good night's sleep, hydrate, and streamline your donation experience and save up to 15 minutes by visiting RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass to complete your predonation reading and health history questions on the day of your appointment.

The Red Cross is also asking that donors bring their own mask or covering that covers both their nose and mouth. If a donor does not have a mask, the Red Cross will provide one.

Anyone who wishes to donate should call and make an appointment at 1-800-RED-CROSS or go to: www. redcrossblood.org

Plan ahead. If all appointment slots are filled, we may not be able to take walk-in donors.

MIKE'S FISH TANK PUFFERFISH

The Freshwater Puffers Natural Habitat Freshwater puffers are found in river systems throughout Southeast Asia, parts of India and Bangladesh, the Amazon basin in South America, and the Congo, Nile and other rivers in Africa. The Goldringed puffer is even found in Lake Tanganyika! A few species occur in open water, but most are found along riverbanks often among submerged plants. They live in tropical and temperate climates.

Puffers "E.T." like faces and unique personalities are what attract people to them and lead many who keep them to consider them a true pet. They learn to recognize their human companions, greeting them enthusiastically when they approach the aquarium and will even hand feed. Puffer fish can be found in the ocean, brackish estuaries and freshwater habitats around the world. Some species move back and forth between different environments on a regular basis. Of the approximately 150 known species of puffer fish, fewer than 30 are considered strictly freshwater.

Freshwater puffers do best with the temperature between 74° and 78° F. Aquarium salt should not be added to a freshwater puffer aquarium unless it is used to treat diseases.

Freshwater puffers can be fin nippers, and some are downright aggressive and/or predatory. For the most part, freshwater puffers should be considered species tank fish.

Smaller species are omnivorous and will thrive on a varied diet that includes Tropical Flakes, Color Flakes, Spirulina Flakes, Tropical Granules, Algae Rounds, Bottom Feeder Tablets and Shrimp Pellets. Frozen foods should also be fed as treats to improve growth and color.

Pets A Plenty is located in the Blockbuster Video Plaza, Rte 281 Cortland, 753-9213. Open 7 days a week. We now have a website. WWW. PETSAPLENTY.BIZ. check it out. I post care sheets, coupons, new animal arrivals, contests and more. Any questions, email me at friskyy@hotmail.com
